Laser Vein Therapy Consent Form

The Cynosure Elite MPX can treat several types of vascular conditions on the face and legs, including rosacea, facial veins, vascular lesions, spider, and reticular veins. Laser vascular treatments use a beam of powerful laser light to target visible veins below the surface of the skin. As the laser energy is absorbed by the problem blood vessels and veins, they naturally fade to reveal your own clear, unblemished skin without causing painful side effects. After just one laser vein treatment, you will start seeing results. Typically, multiple sessions are recommended to achieve the best outcomes.

I confirm that I have none of the known conditions that could make treatment contraindicated, such as:

- 1) Pregnancy or lactation
- 2) Active herpes Simplex (cold sore) in treated area
- 3) History of keloid scarring
- 4) Use of medications that increase photosensitivity
- 5) Use of Accutane in past six months
- 6) Excessive UV light exposure 3 weeks prior to treatment or current tanned skin
